

Latest INF World Ranking: Matches up to 31 October 2014

Results from the recent matches played between England, Australia and New Zealand, plus matches played during October between Ireland, Gibraltar and Switzerland, have now been added to the INF World Rankings.

There is no change to the top order, however leaders Australia are pulling further away from New Zealand ranked at 2, thanks to a 4-0 win in the recent Constellation Cup. Further down the rankings, Ireland move up one place to 27, with Hong Kong dropping down to 28.

Switzerland has also gained ground, rising two places to 30, pushing Namibia and Swaziland back a place each to 31 and 32.
