World Netball Coaching Advisory Panel to host second 'Coaching Conversation' Webinar

The World Netball Coaching Advisory Panel (CAP) will be hosting their second online 'Coaching Conversation' webinar open to all on Tuesday 5th September at 8am BST.

Following the success of CAP's first Coaching Conversation in June, looking ahead to the Netball World Cup 2023 (NWC2023), the panel will now be holding a follow up discussion looking back on the successful tournament hosted in Cape Town.

The webinar will be hosted by CAP Chair, Anita Navin, with CAP members Sue Gaudion, Leigh Gibbs, Nicola Jones and Vicki Wilson* already confirmed on the panel.

CAP have also invited international umpire Gary Burgess, who officiated at the NWC2023, to be part of the conversation and will be inviting an international athlete too, with more information to follow.

In a Question-and-Answer format the panel will discuss the highlights of the NWC2023, key player matchups, surprises of the competition, different style of play and game changing moments, as well looking forward to the next events cycle including the Netball World Cup in 2027.

Speaking on the exciting announcement, Navin said: "The Netball World Cup 2023 was an absolute spectacle where we could all embrace the culture and diversity of a nation and continent as well as immersing ourselves in a superb and well contested competition.

“The Coaching Advisory Panel and guests will discuss and reflect upon the great performances of athletes, the match ups and outcomes, the game styles, coaching decisions, and much more.

“Oh, and some of the surprises and unexpected outcomes of this Netball World Cup 2023 will be a topic of conversation.

“See you there!”

The live webinar will last 1.5 hours and will cost £10 GBP to attend.

Those interested in joining can sign up and pay using the following link:
