

Scottish Thistles Head Coach

Netball Scotland is seeking a new national head coach to lead the Thistles towards the next World Cup in 2027 and beyond.

About Us

Netball Scotland is the National Governing Body (NGB) for the sport of Netball in Scotland. It is a membership organisation responsible for the development and governance of the game for individuals, clubs and communities across the country.

About You

The successful candidate will bring:

- experience of successful coaching and leadership at a senior level within the international arena and/or in a professional league, including managing effective performance programmes.
- demonstrable high standards, ambition and strong interpersonal skills, recognising that the position is a role model for players and coaches at all levels.
- demonstrable knowledge and experience of working with and managing high performance support services.

You will be required to have the right to work in the UK and have a valid Disclosure Scotland PVG membership before commencing employment.

Place of Work

Emirates Arena, Glasgow.

Salary

Negotiable, based on experience.

Employee Benefits

We are looking for the right person for this role and can be flexible in terms of contractual hours and start date. We offer a range of employee benefits such as flexible working, generous holidays, a workplace pension scheme, support with your development and much more!

How to apply

Please send your coaching CV along with a covering letter detailing why you would like the role, and how you would approach the key responsibilities and duties associated with the position to ceo@netballscotland.com by 12noon on Tuesday 26 March 2024.
